Cleveland Aug 7—A $100,000 dam suit was filed here today in U S District Court in behalf of Mrs Lorence M Mellett widow of Don R Mellett slain Canton publisher with the intention of an alleged con spiracy to kill her husband

The action brought by Joseph B Doan Cleveland attorney in the Mellett murder case names Louis Mazer of Canton Leo Rudner of Massillon Ohio and Patrick Eugene McDermott

Mazer is in jail here on murder and liquor conspiracy warrants

Doan has been mentioned on several occasions in connection with the slain editor Mellett Mc Dermott is Doan sought as the key man in the murder mystery

Deprived of Father

The suit stated that the alleged conspiracy in the murder plot deprived Mrs Mellett and her children of the support and companionship of their husband and father

Pool on stated that the suit was filed to get to the bottom of the murder mystery because Mr Beach and myself are greatly afraid that nothing definite will be done by the Stark County grand jury that will tend to bring Mellett s killers to justice

He intimated that there will be a number of other defendants brought in to the suit before it comes to trial

The whole purpose of this suit is to unfold before the country the perversion of justice practiced in Canton by so called authorities Poulson said and we mean to do it in the federal courts where we will at least be sure that no political influence can be exerted and a fair trial will be guaranteed This could never be achieved in Canton or Stark County

OFFICIALS SURE OF COUNTYWIDE CATTLE TESTING

Tuberculin Examinations of All Dairy Herds Practically Arranged

SIGNATURES OBTAINED

Next Step Will Be Request for Appropriation from Commissioners

A tuberculin test of all dairy cattle in Marion County appears to be virtually assured health officials and others interested in the project said today

A sufficient number of cattle owners of three townships have signed applications to comply with requirements of the state veterinarian who has agreed to send his force of inspectors into the county as soon as promoters of the movement reach that point in the circulation of petitions The townships now signed up are Pleasant Waldo and Tully and petitions are now being circulated in Richland Township with all indications pointing to success there

The project in its locality is backed by the Marion County Bovine Tuberculosis Eradication Association which was organized several months ago at a meeting held in the Marion Star Auditorium C A Keil of Pleasant Township is president

At the time the organization was effected, state officials promised that the county wide test would be started as soon as the necessary signatures in three townships were obtained The having been accomplished the next step is to request the county commissioners for a small appropriation to pay the annual cost of the inspection This is based upon a rate of 50 cents a head for all cattle tested

New York Aug 25—Thousands of curiosity seekers battled with police reserves in Rudolph Valentino's home in Hollywood again today in the streets for blocks around Campbell's Funeral Church in the hope of getting a last look and glimpse of the body of the famous motion picture star which is lying in state

They came in great numbers in spite of the fact that 100 persons were injured late yesterday and last night when a crowd of 100,000—police estimate—fought with police reserves for a glimpse of the dead star Most of the injured were women and three of them policemen They were cut and hit with fragments of plate glass windows that had been pushed in or injured in the rioting in the streets

Sidewalks and streets were littered with pocketbooks umbrellas furs and women's shoes when the doors of the chapel were closed at midnight and the police cleared or rather tried to clear the people home

Throng Assembles

Long before it struck what the doors of the funeral church were to be re opened another throng began to assemble By 5 o'clock this morning it had reached ten and thousand The doors will remain open until midnight

The rioting scenes started at the funeral church were without precedent in New York in the opinion of the police Inspector Frank Campbell in charge of the chapel and a veteran undertaker said

"I have never seen anything like it I hadn't anything to do with the funeral I tried to get Grant and see though we had large crowds to handle but it was nothing like this

Crowds made during the night showed that the line of people were passing the coffin where Valentino lay in state at the rate of 170 a minute or 9 000 an hour The people filed by from 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon until midnight when they almost crowded on a barrel when cars were sent out with megaphones notifying them that the doors were closed

Mournful Wreath

This morning a huge beautiful wreath inscribed From Pola was placed by Miss Negri who visited the chapel New York florist on ordered the piece had cabled to provide the wreath in his name

STATE DEPARTMENT TO ACT ON CROSSING MIX-UP

Commissioners and C., D. & M. Officials To Confer with Highway Heads

Officials of the State Highway Department and Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co., together with Marion County Commissioners and all others interested, will meet at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning in the offices of the State Highway Department at Columbus, for the discussion of the construction of Newman's crossing, eight miles south of the city.

Announcement of the meeting was received today by county commissioners.

No action has been taken in the matter of repairing the crossing considered one of the most dangerous in the county since Marion County Common Pleas Court, several months ago, issued an injunction in favor of the C, D & M., prohibiting the highway department from taking the course desired across the tracks.

The highway department wishes to construct the road directly across the tracks but in order to do so must appropriate a short strip of the C, D & M property The injunction prohibits the department from building the road in this manner

The C, D & M Electric Co. claims that the crossing will be less dangerous if it follows its present curved course across the tracks

In the meantime, the Marion-Marysville, of which Newman's crossing is a part, has been opened to traffic.

MAN MISSING FOR TWO YEARS AMNESIA VICTIM

Wife Declares She's "Living in Hopes" That He Will Return

Indianapolis Ind, Aug 25—Somewhere in the wide world there stalks a man weighing three hundred pounds and standing over six feet high in stocking feet who does not know who he is or where he is from—a victim of amnesia

This is the belief here of friends and former business associates of James F Adams 55 of Indianapolis former president of the James B Adams & Son Inc, brick and tile ... manufacturing firm

Accompanied by his son Adams went to Traction Terminal Station here on the morning of January 9 1925 ... enough to board an interurban car for a business trip to Crawfordsville not more than 40 miles northwest of Indianapolis and the home of Wabash College

Adams never reached Crawfordsville and never has been heard from since

Descriptions of Adams were sent to police authorities all over the United States and Canada, and times innumerable radio listeners in all parts of the country have been requested to keep an eye peeled for a man of his distinguished appearance and proportions without bringing any word to the wife and son whose only supposition is that he suffered a nervous breakdown With a happy home and financially successful business enterprise, no other solution has been advanced

"I am living in hopes but am almost ready to give up" said Mrs Adams who has made her home with a sister in this city since the Adams home in fashionable North Delaware street was given up following the mysterious disappearance I think he must have suffered a loss of memory"

There is no indication that the Hall of Fame will have to be enlarged to take care of the names of present-day writers of fiction.

The footprints that most of us leave on the sands of time are closely followed by the footprints of bill collectors.

The California janitor who was defeated in his race for congress declares that he will run again and when he does he should be wise enough to keep his occupation in the background in order to land at least a few votes among apartment house tenants.

It was too much, of course, to expect Trudy to swim her way home, although there are probably some enthusiastic admirers convinced that she made the trip by the steamship merely in order to be well-groomed for the home-coming reception.

Detroit recently celebrated its 225th birthday but really didn't begin to enjoy life thoroughly until the last twenty years.

About eighty per cent. of Ohio voters remained away from the polls primary day, yet the chances are that many of them will cast their ballots in November to retain the primary plan as the only system of nominations that maintains the "rule of the people."

Figures compiled by the American Petroleum Institute show that 36,606,000 gallons of gasolene were sold in thirty states during June, an increase of 5,191,000 gallons, or 15.9 per cent. over the consumption in the same states in June, 1925. For the same six months, these thirty states consumed 1,§17,203,000 gallons, a gain of 228,529,000 gallons, or 14.1 per cent. over the total for the first half of 1925. If this ratio of increase continues the country is likely to be confronted with a serious problem in providing land for filling station sites.

A Formidable Foe of Crime.

District Attorney Bernstein offers to establish headquarters in Canton and take full charge of the war on crime and vice and the work of clearing up the Mellett mystery. In order to do this a leave of absence from his superiors in Washington would be necessary but that doubtless could be arranged if Canton citizens should express a desire to accept Mr. Bernstein's proposal. Washington officials, from the president on down, are fully conversant with the Canton case and realize that it vitally concerns the national welfare. They would be pleased to assist in running the Mellett slayers to earth if possible, but are without authority excepting the work they can do in prosecuting violators of the prohibition and anti-narcotics laws. Beyond doubt they would be ready and willing to grant Bernstein the privilege of laying aside his federal duties for a few weeks to center his efforts solely on the Mellett case.

Much has been said regarding Slater, Roach and others in connection with the Mellett murder inquiry, but Bernstein is apparently the outstanding figure of the entire probe force. He is feared and respected by the lawless element, not only because of his work in the Canton case, but for his effective warfare against other criminal conspiracies, some of which were nation-wide in scope. Men of Bernstein's type are of tremendous value in the public service. With federal and state law enforcement organizations made up entirely of a corps of such executives, bold and open defiance of authority like that which has been glowing apace for several years would soon begin to lose volume and virulence.

Dangers of "Mushy" Diet.

Dr. Butler, professor of operative dentistry in the Dental college at Tokio, Japan, sounds a warning against children eating candy in too generous quantities and also against adults confining their diet to soft food that requires little if any mastication. The admonitions were voiced in an address given a few days ago at the annual convention of the National Society of Dental Prosthetists in Philadelphia.

"Every time a child eats a lollypop he might as well say good-bye to one of his teeth —and for every man who feeds on a soft, mushy diet the human race is one step nearer utter foolishness," the expert from Japan told his audience.

Dr. Butler is not giving his fellow-helpers new information nor sounding a new warning. Dentists and physicians have been deploring the prevalence of soft edibles in the average person's diet for many years without getting any response in the way of a change. They tell us that the American Indian of pioneer days was blessed with fine teeth because he subsisted chiefly on corn and other brittle edibles which required prolonged chewing and consequently gave the teeth and gums needed exercise.

The Indian, however, was not rushed with business cares. He had plenty of time to spend at his meals and consequently dined leisurely and deliberately, unless some evil intentioned adversary happened to drop in unexpectedly for the purpose of paying his respects with arrow or tomahawk.

Mushy foods will probably continue to be popular features of the American menu chiefly because of the increasing demand for time-saving. The fact that this class of edibles minimizes effort in dining is also an important factor. People of today insist upon comfort and ease at their meals and food that is prepared to please, and to eliminate the necessity of mastication is regarded as essential. The conserving and safeguarding of health and vigor are no consideration in the process of satisfying the appetite until undeniable evidence of damage becomes apparent. That is one of the main reasons why dentists and physicians are kept working overtime.

Gratifying Progress.

Marion taxpayers will derive much satisfaction and pleasure from the latest news published regarding the finances of their municipal government. The records of City Auditor J. L. Landes reveal that city affairs are at last on a pay-as-you-go basis after almost a decade of operation which saw the treasury drifting gradually into the hole with a deficit that increased annually to a point where the situation was nothing short of alarming.

Now that stability and normal functioning have been established there will never be any excuse or reason for a return to the ruinous course pursued during those ten years or so of what seemed to be almost blind management. At no time, of course, was there danger of municipal bankruptcy but affairs did reach a point where taxes that would be almost tantamount to property confiscation loomed as a menacing possibility. There could have been no other recourse for preserving the city's credit and for keeping government and public service functioning but the process of spending more than revenue amounted to continued for a few more years.

Legislative action prohibiting operating on borrowed funds or on using part of next year's taxes to pay this year's expenses badly put a clog to unwise financing. The result in Marion is easily recalled. The occupational tax became necessary and funds contributed by citizens and industrial concerns were used to keep the fire and police departments operating. But those unusual emergency measures were unavoidable unless Marion people were willing practically to "shut up shop" as far as public safety and service were concerned. That was only about two years ago and since then the work of recovery has been in progress. City officials have curtailed expenses wherever possible, for which they are entitled to commendation. The experience has been good for them and for the city as a whole. It has shown that a municipality can live for less in order to make both ends meet if its officials buckle down to the task of cutting corners and doing without some things that are not absolutely essential. This discovery will be valuable for the future, should another emergency arise.

Increased revenue resulting from the reappraisement of real estate has played an important part in the work of financial stabilization but even that would have been insufficient had there not been exercise of economy in management of the various municipal departments. Capable and conscientious officials will continue this policy of efficiency even though funds may eventually become plentiful. To keep expenses down when an ample amount of revenue is available is more of a test than when lack of revenue requires a policy of economy. But officials devoted to duty and with the interests of the people at heart will stand the test without fail and under all circumstances. Wise voters will see that none but public servants of that class are elected.

Two St. Louis boys engaged in a playful demonstration of how to be quick "on the draw" with revolvers and one of them was killed as a result. This ought to be a warning to prevent other youngsters from trifling with loaded guns but unfortunately will not be. Such tragedies, like deaths caused by the gun "they didn't know was loaded," seem destined to go on until the end of time.

Campaigns of education may accomplish some good in relation to traffic safety, law enforcement and other important problems, but no system of education, even among grown-ups, is effectual without occasional use of a hickory stick.

We hope, for the sake of the Sesqui-Centennial management, that the Dempsey-Tunney fight will not serve to cap the climax to the rather unfavorable advertising that has been going the rounds regarding the Philadelphia exposition.

After all, consumers of bootleg liquor are doing their part in behalf of law enforcement for if they get away with enough of the stuff there is bound to be a decrease in the list of customers.

In their attempt to drive American tourists from the country the French should at least be considerate enough to leave their unwelcome guests with enough money to pay their fare home.

There's not much satisfaction for a motorist to boast about being a careful driver after he has been shoved into the ditch by a speed demon.

Twenty cigarets a day are said to be the average for feminine smokers in London and that is one form of pastime, we hope, in which the American girl is outclassed.

The new president of Poland who had to postpone his inauguration until he could take up a white shirt to wear possibly will prefer one of armor plate after the populace gets to taking active interest in his administration.

Now that a Massachusetts court has ruled that it's not larceny for a woman to take money from her husband's pockets there's apparently nothing left for the men to do but support their families voluntarily.

NO TRESPASSING

Right Food Is a Big Problem.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Whenever doctors gather together to discuss the ailments of infants, they talk about the first year of a baby's life. This is the most critical year in any existence.

Scientists have trained their guns upon this field in life's battle more than upon any other. If the baby can be taken through the first twelve months, and especially if he can round out this period in health and vigor, the chances of his survival are very, very bright.

Of course not all the danger ends with the beginning of the second year. The next year and the third year are very important. During these three years the foundation of the future is laid. If this foundation is broad and deep we may hope for a strong, resistant adult life.

It is amazing what care will accomplish in the life of a little baby. The other day I talked with a great big strong woman, weighing nearly 200 pounds, but so big in frame and so hard in muscle that she did not seem to be unduly large. She told me that when she was born she weighed only two pounds. The watchful and tender care of her mother through the first year of life, and indeed through the first two or three years of life, gave her a foundation of health which will practically guarantee seventy-five or eighty years of useful womanhood.

More important than anything else through the first two or three years of child life is the selection and administration of proper food. The young mother is taught how to prepare the bottle feedings. When the breast fails and it is time to supplement by giving modified cow's milk, the family physician will give minute directions about the preparation of the milk. He will tell the mother how much to feed and how often the bottle is to be given.

It is more difficult to deal with the child after the bottle age is past. It takes a lot of sense to feed the baby up to the time he is three years of age.

The surest index of the welfare of the child is the child itself. If he grows and thrives it is probable the food is just as it should be. If the skin is clear and clean and the teeth appear in proper order, it may be assumed that the mother's feeding methods are correct. A healthy child has the appearance of health and vigor.

At all times from the birth of a child forward, regularity of meals is of great importance. When it has been determined just what shall be fed the child, meals should be given with clock-like regularity.

It is just as important to keep from overfeeding a baby as an adult. You should work out with your doctor the amount of food your baby needs and restrict his food to that amount. Overfeeding results in stomach, kidney and other ailments. Of course the baby cannot develop without ample food, but the mother can learn what the real needs are and supply them so that the child can grow and bloom.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

The worst joke I heard today was told to me by Nelson Keyes. Nelson is working with Miss Dorothy Gish in a picture. He and I are in there with Miss Gish and the three of us are having a lot of fun making it. If it is half as good as the fun we have it ought not to be so bad. We are at a studio here in London and they are so nice to you. Just give you a cold rakes all the time. He was over home last with Charlot's revue and is just about as clever a comedian as you ever saw. He is full of jokes, and among a thousand that he tells us on the set all the time this has no trouble standing out as the worst.

"What's become of old Sholoto?" said one old actor to another. "I haven't seen him playing in years."

"Why poor old Sholoto is dead. Died during a colonial tour. Pelted to death in South Africa with eggs."

"Eggs!" repeated his friend in astonishment. "But eggs can't kill a man. I have had them——"

"Ah, but in South Africa," replied the informant, "you must remember there are ostrich eggs!"—Copyright, 1926.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Lucky Australia. Hugh Ward, theater owner in that land says: "We have no night life in Australia. We are so young a commonwealth that we have not become bored with the simple things."

Unclean plays that draw large audiences in the larger cities of America are not put on in Australia. Producers say the people don't want them.

The secret of the restlessness of today's people in America lies in the fact that laziness has become so widespread that thousands who used to find joy in simple pleasures are now "bored to death" by any experience that hasn't a kick in it.

Part of the United States army, stationed in San Francisco, has been having a beauty contest. It was to pick the most beautiful soldier.

Well—perhaps there are worse evils than war.

Dr. Juan Gordon, Rockford, Illinois, pastor who has 2,700 members in his church has something to say to preachers about marrying. You don't have to marry every couple that comes to you, he says. Dr. Gordon said he was all set to perform a marriage ceremony once when he heard something that changed his mind. He just took the bridegroom and threw him out of the window. Perhaps there would be fewer divorces and fewer domestic problems if more preachers had the courage to throw more bridegrooms out of more windows.

Professional worriers are wondering what we are going to do on this earth when the coal plays out and the oil is all used up. Where will we get our heat and power? Such worriers are not thinking ahead of the times. According to Pomilio, noted Italian chemist, the great dream of science for the release of atomic energy is about to be realized. The freeing of man from bondage to coal and other energy-making materials upon which we are now dependent is at hand.

Experiments with the sun and study of the atom have shown us the untold power locked up all about us. It won't be long until somebody is smart enough to teach us how to unlock that power.

Don't worry. There will be coal in the earth long after we have ceased to need it.

We can kill flies in this country, but we are not so good swatting mosquitoes. Uncle Sam bought $960,000 worth of citronella to rub on his ankles in the last year. At the same time he was selling about $200,000 worth of fly swatters abroad.

All of our imports were not so valuable as citronella. For instance we bought a million dollars' worth of golf balls.

Poems That Live.

"THE LOVERS."

Sally Salter. She was a young teacher who taught.
And her friend, Charley Church, was a preacher who preached.
Though his enemies called him a scorcher who screeched.

His heart, when he saw her, kept sinking and sank,
And his eye, meeting hers, began winking, and winked;
While she, in her turn, kept thinking, and thunk.

In secret he wanted to speak, and he spoke,
To seek, with his lips what his heart knew had sought;
So he managed to let the truth leak, and it broke.

He asked her to ride to the church, and they rode;
They so sweetly did glide that they both thought they glode,
And they came to the place to be tied, and were tied.

The kiss he was dying to steal, then he stole;
At the feet where he wanted to kneel then he knelt;
And he said, "I feel better than ever I felt."

So they to each other kept clinging, and clung
While time his swift circuit was winging, and wung;
And this was the thing he was bringing and hung:

The man Sally wanted to catch, and had caught;
That she wanted from others to snatch and had snaught;
Was the one she now liked to scratch, and she scraught.

"Wretch!" he cried, when she threatened to leave him, and left,
"How could you deceive me, as you have deceft?"
And she answered, "I promised to cleave, and I've cleft."

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Aug. 25.—Manhattan is a sight enjoyed with its summer desolation. This summer it was worse than ever before. Week ends gave it such a deserted village look that a clocker discovered pedestrianic traffic had slowed up seventy-five per cent. on Saturday afternoon.

To be seen in town" has become a social gauche comparable to tan oxfords with evening dress. And the usual week-end from Friday night to Monday morning was lengthened from Thursday night to Tuesday morning. It was not an elegant gesture for business.

Coupled with this was the exodus to Europe and resorts a little nearer New York. The idea is becoming advanced that if New York—by leaving town give the impression summer weather is intolerable how can they really expect visitors to come here?

In other words a "Stay at Home" movement is being urged. Big sums are to be expended by awakened civic booming organizations to dispel the illusion New York is not a summer town. As a matter of fact there is no city in the world offering such advantages.

So-called "heat waves" are rare. New York nights are almost invariably cool. The finest bathing beaches in the world are short instances away. Hotel rates go down instead of up. There are the best of summery theatrical offerings and outdoor amusement parks and eating places.

The truth is that New York has paid no attention to her summer attractions until merchants began to howl. Modern cooling and ventilating systems have given hotels, stores and public amusement places a comfort beyond that of any other city.

It is the old time New Yorkers who appreciate the town's summer virtues. The mansions of the newly rich are shuttered, but in old Murray hill and other aristocratic purlieus people have long since learned summer is the most delightful season of all.

A leading man was recently sent a huge basket of flowers on an opening night. He was touched and in his dressing room said: "This is the first time in my life I ever received flowers."

"Don't let it discourage you," chirped the comedienne, "you will probably also get a few at the finish."

Tommy Lyman, Broadway's sweet singer, is on his way back to Broadway. Tommy is a pale faced young man with a wistful voice who roams from table to table in the cafes of Paris, London and New York singing of soft moonlight nights and faithless lovers. He is called "The Tubercular Tenor" although his capacious lungs are sound as a dollar. He is a slim and silent figure when not singing. He neither smokes or drinks.

There is also another silent figure of the night clubs. He is called "The Turk" for no apparent reason. He always comes alone, immaculately dressed and usually spends his time pencilling odd hieroglyphics on the white table cloth.—Copyright, 1926.

Today's Events.

Wednesday, August 25, 1926.

This is the national independence day of Uruguay.

Centenary of the birth of William W. F. Synge, noted British diplomatist and author.

Scotland today paid tribute to the memory of David Hume, the great historian and political economist, on the 150th anniversary of his death.

The Mexican situation was to be discussed at an important conference in Washington today between Secretary of State Kellogg and James R. Sheffield, the American ambassador to Mexico.

Seven years ago today the first daily aerial passenger service was inaugurated between London and Paris, a distance of 250 miles. Today one can travel by air all over Europe and over a large part of the American continent.

Today begun the final week of the primary campaign in California, which involves spirited contests for the nominations for United States senator, governor, and numerous other offices to be filled at the election in November.

A world conference to discuss birth control opened today at Geneva, Switzerland, under the auspices of the International Birth Control organization, of which Dr. C. C. Little, president of the University of Michigan, is the official head.

Twenty Years Ago.

This day was Saturday.

Mrs. Isaac Williams, seventy, died at her home at Scott Town following an illness of several years.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Uhler had just returned from a two-weeks outing at Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haberman returned from an extended visit at Bay View, Michigan.

A tract of fifty-nine acres of land embracing eleven acres of the George B. Christian farm, south of the Green camp pike and west of the Columbus, Delaware and Marion Electric company's interurban right-of-way, was purchased by Dr. C. E. Sawyer. It was announced that this property might ultimately become the site of the new sanitorium.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Jeffries, Edward street, the day before.

Warren G. Harding and Grant B. Mosier were named delegates to the state convention by Marion county Republicans in convention at the courthouse. L. B. McNeal and T. D. Emery received the same number of votes for alternates to the convention. To decide the issue the convention secretary tossed a coin. Emery chose heads and won.

Republicans in convention named the following men on the county ticket: R. M. Shuff for recorder; J. D. Gillespie, for commissioner, H. H. Frey, for infirmary director, and E. L. Brady, for coroner.

Who's Who and Why.

JOHN S. FISHER.

More than two-thirds of the voters of Pennsylvania being Republicans, it seems quite likely that the next governor of the Keystone state will be John S. Fisher, the Republican nominee.

At the May primaries Fisher, who was the candidate favored by Andrew Mellon, won the nomination in a four-cornered contest with 18,000 votes to spare. The Democrats named Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, of Philadelphia.

Fisher is a former state official. He served two terms in the state senate and first attracted attention when he was chairman of the investigating committee which probed the graft charges growing out of the construction of the new capitol building at Harrisburg about twenty years ago.

Mr. Fisher in addition to being a senator served a term as state banking commissioner and four years ago was mentioned for the governorship at the time Governor Pinchot won out over the organized Republican forces. He is a former public school teacher, lawyer and banker and has been a delegate to several national conventions of his party. His home is at Indiana, Pennsylvania.

Early today the body of Valentino was moved to the first floor of the funeral church to facilitate handling of the throng It had been removed from the gold room upstairs

As another huge crowd began to form Police Commissioner George McLaughlin took personal charge of police arrangements

The doors of the funeral chapel were opened at 8 30 and the crowd began to file in rapidly They passed the casket at the rate of 45 a minute The crowd was distinctly more orderly this morning It was estimated that 50 000 persons at least would view the body today

Yesterday Alberto stated that he did not feel that the body should be brought back to Turin for burial for should it be laid at rest in the American which Rudolph had loved

Alberto caught the boat train to connect with the White Star liner Homeric at Havre

I was surprised to learn of the plans to hold my brothers funeral on Monday Alberto said just before boarding the train Since it is planned to delay the services that long I sent a wireless message asking for a delay of two more days which would permit me to attend the services will be held soon and in case favorable action on the part of the county board is obtained state inspectors will start work here immediately These developments are expected within the next few weeks

Tests have already been made in a number of other Ohio counties The work is done under the provisions of a law which enables state and federal authorities to cooperate in a concerted effort to free the country of tuberculin infected cattle War against this menace was begun first in the East with the result that cattle of that class came to be diverted into other states including Ohio making a clean up campaign imperative in the section of the country

In order to obtain the services of the State Department and the county commissioners must be signed by at least 75 per cent of the cattle owners in each township in the county before the work can be started Reports of applications received by the county commissioners indicate that more than the required 75 per cent of the cattle owners in Marion county have signified their willingness to have the tests made

Many Marion Rail Workers Hear Illustrated Lecture on Handling of Explosives

M. L. Oglesby, District Representative of Bureau of Explosives, Washington, Talks at Moose Hall; Stresses Care in Work of Moving Dangerous Articles

A large number of local employees of the railroads and many others interested in the method used in handling combustible freight enjoyed the lecture on the safe transportation of explosives and dangerous articles at the Loyal Order of Moose Hall last night by M. L. Oglesby district representative of the Bureau of Explosives, Washington.

The lecture was extremely interesting as well as instructive. Illustrations were used by Mr. Oglesby.

The handling of all explosives and various methods used in the work were covered in every detail by the lecturer. The greatest emphasis was placed on the word of the freight train who is handling dangerous articles at his job.

Stresses Care

Throughout the lecture Mr. Oglesby laid stress time and again on the single word care. The secret of safe handling of dangerous and fragile articles lies in that term, he said.

The lecture was held for the benefit of all who are interested in the manner in which explosives are handled.

The lecture is given in Marion about every three years to refresh the memories of men who handle the goods and others who come into contact with the dangerous freight during their work.

Yesterday was pay day for section men of the Kent Division Erie Railroad. The men received their pay at the Erie freight house here.

Clean Up Day

Clean up day was inaugurated at the Erie freight house yesterday. Weeds in the vicinity of the building and side tracks were rapidly disappearing under the hoes and rakes of the clean up men. The work will probably be completed today.

Finger Crushed

Emil McNeal, driver of the depot transfer truck at the Union Station is suffering today with a badly crushed finger on the right hand.

McNeal was injured yesterday when a heavy trunk which he was loading on the truck crashed down upon his hand.

Enjoy Radio Concert

Pennsylvania employees who did not attend the lecture at Moose Hall last night enjoyed the radio hour of the Pennsylvania Railroad given every Tuesday night from WJZ, WBZ and WRC. The program featured the famous Brunswick Recording Orchestra.

A special train over the Pennsylvania Railroad from Camp Perry carrying Ohio National Guard troops of Ashland will transfer the cars to the Erie here

CINCY REDS WIN OVER GIANTS, 4 3

THE Cincy Reds were so much ...visted over their first victory over the much feared Giants that they decided to make it two yesterday Jack Scott outpitched Luque but the Reds outclassed the Giants and won by the score of 4 to 3

The win marked the tenth straight for the Reds Although touched for nine hits Luque had things much his own way yesterday and was only in danger in two innings the second and the sixth when the Gotham herd scored all their runs

Scott Hurls Well

Jack Scott who was cast off by the Reds as a worthless athlete came back at his old friends and held them to six hits yesterday but errors by Kelly and Terry proved costly to his cause

The Giants were the first to score in the first half of the second but the Reds erased this puny lead in their half of the inning Christy first up plunked Neale for a single to center and Pipp likewise contributed a hit Kelly muffed Lindstroms throw for the force out at second on Hargrave's bound er and the bases were loaded Dressens fly sacrificed Christy home while Ford put the Reds in to the lead with a single that scored Pipp

The Reds scored again in the fifth and sixth and then coasted through the rest of the game with the lead in tow

PIRATES MOVE BACK INTO FIRST PLACE

THE Robins regretted their action of a while ago in toppling the Pirates out of first place so they banged the mish back again yesterday 10 to 1 Ray Kremer pitched beautiful ball while Burleigh Grimes bowled for the Dodgers allowing a rain of fire runs in two innings After he was relieved of the responsibility

Divide Twin Bill

The Braves and the Cards divided honors in their double header at St Louis yesterday The visitors took the first 2 to 1 then fought a close battle to give Hornsby's boys the second 6 to 5

Long distance batting was the rule of the Chicago Cubs leaving the Philadelphia Nationals on the sour end of both games of a double header The first one went 6 to 1 while two home runs by Hartnett and one by Wilson in the second helped shut out the visitors, 9 to 0

The Senators and the Browns had the American League all to themselves yesterday and for the Senators everything was quite all right Heavy hitting gave them a sizeable lead and St Louis dropped on the short end of a 9 to 6 score

Rain caused postponement of all other games

Sports— No Sentiment in Baseball

BY JACK DONAHUE

BARNEY DREYFUSS grand old man of the Pirates and philosopher in baseball, recently made the following remark

"There is no sentiment in baseball"

And perhaps Barney was right

Baseball is a game where the men who play it must always look to their own welfare and disregard the interests of others Its hand of destiny is guided by the men who control it and the spectators who watch it It is a game that can both 'make and 'break' a man as it wills Oftentimes the star of today becomes the goat of tomorrow Baseball has that power

LAST week Ted Lyons Chicago White Sox hurler hurled a ... game against Boston the first ... the sons in the major leagues Considering the rarity of hitless contests in organized baseball Lyons accomplishment was even classed as extraordinary

But turn back the pages of baseball history to a year ago and we find the White Sox hurler well on his way to pitching a perfect game against the Washington Senators

Two men were out in the last half of the ninth Lyons had pitched hitless ball up until this time Only one man remained in his path towards entering select pitching society That man was Ira Flagstead

His eyes determined and his hands firmly gripping the ball Veach faced the pitcher

Lyons wound up and delivered Veach swung as the ball neared the plate but the ball passed over the outfield and dropped into right field for a safe hit

A controversy followed immediately Ray Schalk the White Sox catcher accused Veach of deliberately attempting to prevent the youngster from attaining the great ambition of every pitcher—a perfect game Schalk based his accusation on the grounds that the game was lost when Veach went to bat

But Stanley Harris manager of the Senators defended Veach saying that as Lyons was good enough to hurl perfect ball for eight and two thirds innings he should have been able to get by Veach

So the dream of a youngster was shattered

TAKE the case of Hank Gowdy Gowdy was the first baseball player to enlist in the service of his country when America went into the war nine years ago leaving his position as catcher of the New York Giants

When Gowdy came back he was received with open arms and treated like a prodigal son—at least for awhile

McGraw soon realized that Gowdy was going back and gave him his release, saying that his action was prompted by Gowdy's desire to return to his home town—Columbus—as playing manager

Hank took over the managerial end of the Columbus American Association club The team was owned by Tom Wilson of Chicago a man who lived with the idea that ball players could be picked up on the street without price tags being attached to them

Under this handicap Hank tried to produce a winning team but failed He was given his walking papers after a short reign as manager

Gowdy is now with the Millers probably awaiting his next step on the way down

For a man who did so much for baseball at a time when the game was expected to give much base ball returned Hille

Three Things

In LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes you get all that can be in any very fine cigarette—also the added pleasure produced by the extra process of toasting.

You get the choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and perfectly blended.

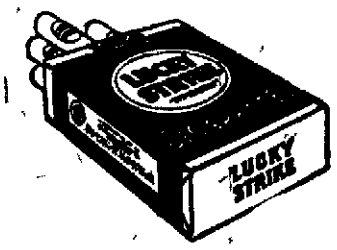
But here are three additional things:

LUCKY STRIKE tobaccos are toasted for 45 minutes in superheat. This (1) removes all "bite" and harshness. It (2) develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. Then (3) sudden chilling seals the moist fragrance in, insuring freshness.

"IT'S TOASTED" represents a costly extra process that adds the finishing touch to a wonderfully fine cigarette.

BECAUSE IT'S TOASTED

That's Why Luckies Taste So Good



Historic Upper Sandusky Pageant Opens Thursday Night

FIVE THOUSAND SEATS ERECTED ON HILLSIDE

Leading Characters in Cast Selected by Recent Vote of Citizens

Upper Sandusky, Aug 25—Preparations are being given the finishing touches today for the largest home talent presentation ever staged in Upper Sandusky, when the pageant "Historic Upper Sandusky" is given at Harmon Smith Park this Thursday and Friday nights.

Seating capacity for 5000 has been erected on the hillside of the park which forms a natural amphitheater in the actual Indian Reservation. The low flat land with the natural pool at one end will be the stage for the production.

Citizens of the city have been working for the past month to make this pageant one of the memorable features in the city's history. Sponsored by the Historical Society of Upper Sandusky, the pageant aims to bring before the eyes of the people the fact that they are living on old historic land, settled many years ago by the Red Men and full of dramatic and gripping scenes and tales of those days.

The society wishes to make this city known as the Indian City of Ohio, to build replicas of the old Indian Jail and other Indian landmarks and to revive the Indian atmosphere which overhangs this village.

In the cast are over 300 characters which have been trained by Miss Mary Pressland, of the John Hodgens Producing Company. The place of Honor, that of being Miss Upper Sandusky was awarded to Miss Helen Stecher, well known singer of this city, by vote of the citizens. Receiving the next highest vote of the ten nominated for this honor was Miss Evelyn Nennolster, who will lead the forty-eight states as Miss Columbia.

Miss Upper Sandusky at the opening of the pageant will welcome Miss Columbia and the forty eight states to witness the drama about to be enacted. Then will follow the dawning of creation, the land, water, skies, birds and trees when all is made the coming of the red man on this earth. The establishing of the Indian agency by the government in 1816 and the building of the Indian landmarks will come next. The next episode will show the coming of John Stewart and Henry Peters and the building of the famous Old Mission. Charles Dickens will make a short stop at the village. Controversies will then arise between the white man and the Indians which ends in the sorrowful, overpowered Indians leaving their happy hunting ground for the unknown west. The closing episode is entitled, "The Melting Pot of the Nations,"—symbolizing the spirit of growth of America.

Findlay is coming here with a creditable reputation and expects to eliminate the Athletics from the running for first honors.

According to reports from managers of the teams entered in the meeting all teams will come "loaded." The first game will start at 1 o'clock. All games will be seven inning affairs.

WELCOME PLANNED FOR GIRL SWIMMER

New York, Aug. 25—A welcome home demonstration such as will rival, if not surpass that accorded Bobby Jones, will be put on for the benefit of Gertrude Ederle, heroine of the recent record-breaking channel swim, when she arrives on the Berengaria on Friday.

To the shriek of whistles in the harbor and a "water salute" from a battery of fire boats, Finds" will be escorted ashore by a mayor's committee of welcome and paraded proudly up Broadway to city hall to be officially greeted and felicitated by Mayor Walker.

Los Angeles—William Wrigley, multi-millionaire sportsman, has offered $25,000 cash Tuesday to the first person to swim the 23 mile channel from Los Angeles harbor to Catalina island.

Enlargements now under way will give the Franklin Field Stadium in Philadelphia a seating capacity of 85,000.

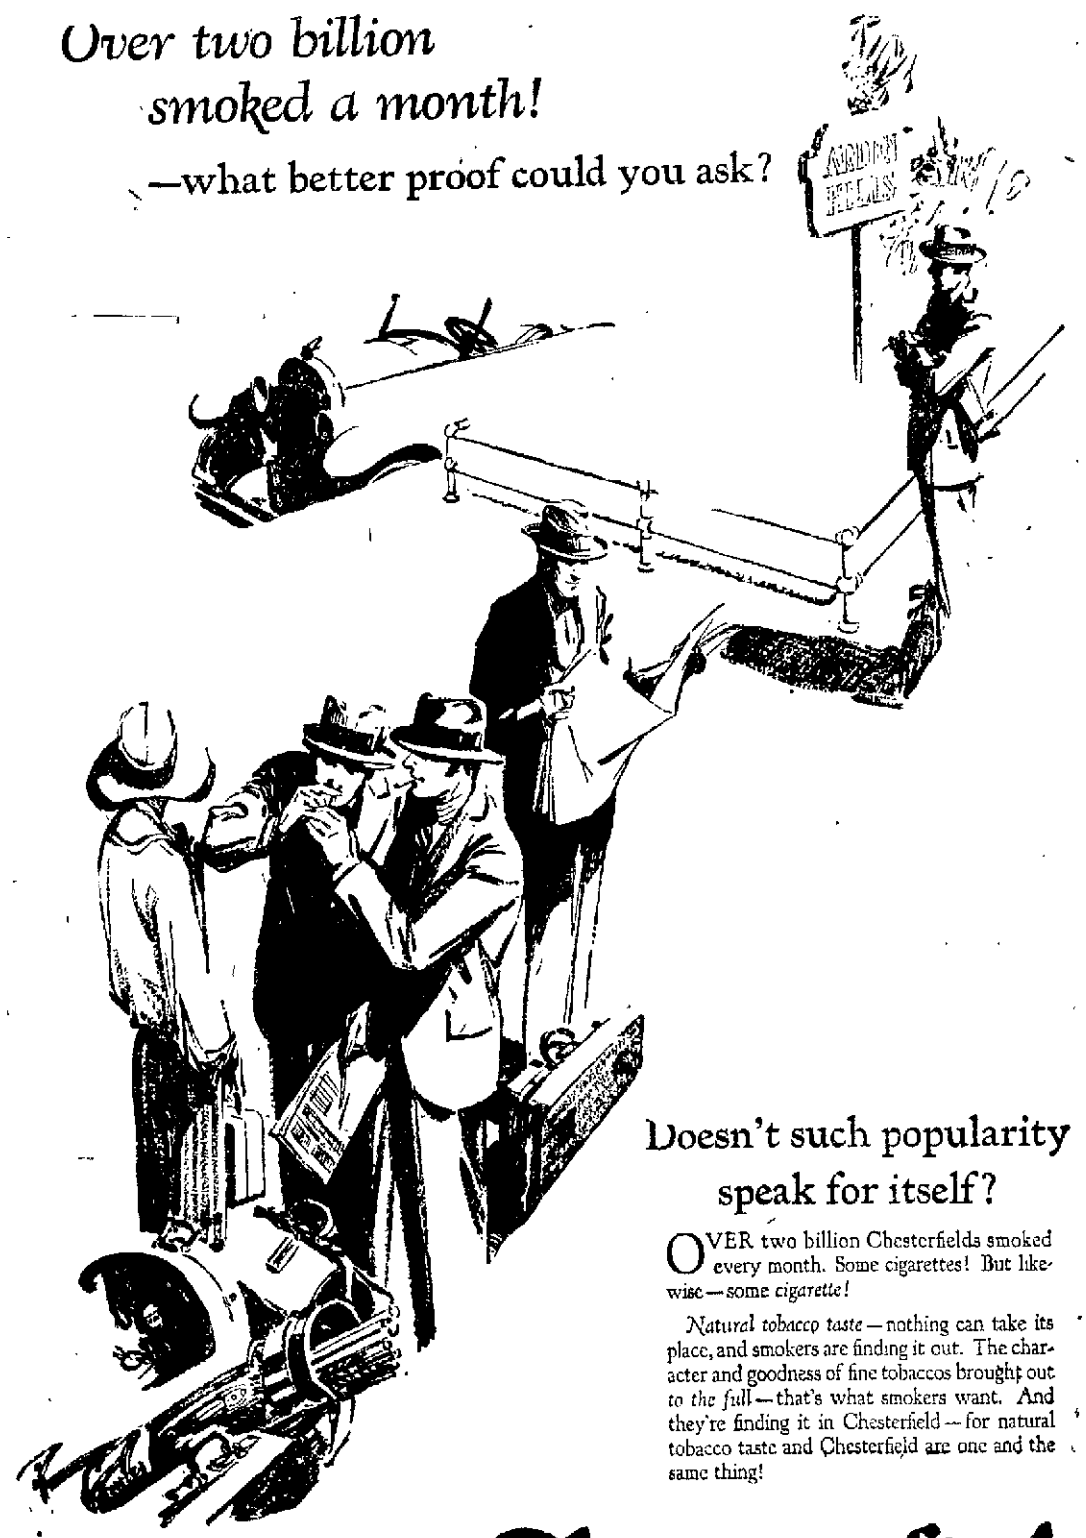
Over two billion smoked a month!

—what better proof could you ask?



Doesn't such popularity speak for itself?

OVER two billion Chesterfields smoked every month. Some cigarettes! But likewise—some cigarette!

Natural tobacco taste—nothing can take its place, and smokers are finding it out. The character and goodness of fine tobaccos brought out to the full—that's what smokers want. And they're finding it in Chesterfield—for natural tobacco taste and Chesterfield are one and the same thing!

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

"Have you seen anyting of my rub...rain coat, my dear?" asked Uncle ...iggily of his wife one afternoon, when ...e sky was dripping water.

"Your rain coat? Why, no," answered Mrs. Longears. "What did you ...ant of it?"

"Well," said the rabbit gentleman ...th a sly little wink at Nurse Jane ...uzzy Wuzzy, "to speak sarcastic like, ...d as I shouldn't, I might say I ...anted to make a strawberry longcake ...it. But, to tell you the truth, I ...ant to wear my rain coat."

"What? Out in the rain!" cried the ...dy rabbit. "Why, it will get all wet!"

"That's what rain coats are for!" ...ushed the bunny uncle. "I can ...magine nothing worse," he went on in ...his might be called a judicial tone, ...than a rain coat in a country where ...never rains. Think how the poor ...ot must long and hope for a good ...orm, all the while singing softly ...how dry I am!' Eh, what, my dear?"

"You are teasing me, I suppose," and ...rs. Longears who, however, didn't in ...e least mind it. "But I haven't seen ...our rubber rain coat."

"Then I must ask the umbrella," said ...e rabbit uncle, as he looked at the ...orm outside and thought how jolly it ...ould be sloshing through it. So he ...quirel to the umbrella:

"Have you seen my rain coat?"

"No," answered the umbrella, tickling itself under one rib, "I have not ...en your rain coat."

"Then I must ask the rubber boots," ...id Mr. Longears. So he appealed to ...e boots:

"Have you seen my rain coat?"

"No," answered the rubber boots as ...ey scratched each other's soles so ...ey wouldn't be slippery, "we haven't ...en your coat."

"Then I must go look for it," decided ...ncle Wiggily, "and you three shall ...elp me." So he put on the two rubber ...ots and, holding the one umbrella ...er his head, out into the storm ...ooped the bunny gentleman to look ...r his coat which was yellow in color, ...t like those worn by the Princeton ...phomores.

But though he looked here, there and ...erywhere, Uncle Wiggily could not ...nd his yellow rubber rain coat, and ...e rubber boots and the umbrella, ...hough they did their best, could not ...elp him. However, to be sure, they ...ept most of the rain off the rabbit ...entleman.

At last, when Mr. Longears was hop...ing across a farmer's field, the um...rella suddenly called out:

"I see it!"

"What? My rain coat?" asked the ...bbit.

"Yes," added the rubber boots. "I ...e it also," and the two friends point...d to something yellow spread out on ...e bush in the middle of the field.

"Sureley enough, that's it!" said ...ncle Wiggily. "Somebody is using my ...in coat for a tent," he went on. "It ...s spread out over that bush and some...ne is beneath it."

"How do you know?" asked the ...mbrella.

"I can see something moving," was ...e reply.

"So can I," agreed the boots. "Let's ...e what it is."

"Maybe it's one of the bad chaps—...e Wolf or Fox—who took your rain ...at, hoping you would come after it, ...d they intend to jump out and grab ...u when you get close enough," sug...sted the umbrella.

"That's my rain coat, and, bad chap ...bad chap, I'm going to have it!"

The bunny gentleman hopped out into the rain

cried Uncle Wiggily firmly. Across the field he hopped and as he drew near the yellow coat eh heard a voice cry:

"Gobble, obble, obble! Obble, gobble!"

"Why it's Mr. and Mrs. Turkey Gobbler and a lot of little turkey chicks under my rain coat!" cried the bunny.

"Yes," gobbled Mr. Turkey. "We borrowed your rain coat to make a tent for our little ones, Uncle Wiggily, for if they get wet they catch cold very easily. I saw your coat hanging out on the line yesterday, to dry, and I thought you wouldn't need it so I took it and my wife and I made a tent of it. I was going to telephone you that I had it, but I forgot."

"You are quite welcome to it," said the bunny kindly. "With boots and an umbrella I hardly need a rain coat." So he let the turkeys have it for a tent and whenever it rained the little gobblers stayed under the bunny's yellow coat. So they grew up without catching cold. And if the clock doesn't try to stand on its head and wave the pendulum in the air like a flag, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's soda pop.

STOCK PRICES MOVE DOWNWARD ON MARKET

Well-Directed Bearish Drives Against Various Sections of Speculative List

Railroad stocks irregular; industrial stocks reactionary; domestic bonds irregular; foreign bonds firm; call money 4½ per cent; grain fairly steady; copper steady; oil irregular; cotton firm; rubber steady; sugar steady; pig iron steady; foreign exchange irregular.

New York, Aug. 25—Stock prices moved downward today in response to a series of powerful and well directed bearish "drives" against various sections of the speculative list. With bullish pools refusing to lead themselves up with industrial stocks and professional Wall st largely committed to the selling side of the market, there was little to stem the ebb of falling prices with the possible exception of buying support for the railroad stocks and a few of the specialties.

As in the last three sessions of the market, the principal outside factor affecting market sentiment was the money market and the expected tightening up of money rates. New York banks called a considerable volume of funds from the speculative market and the prediction was freely made that the call rate would shortly advance to 5 per cent and remain there for some time.

Bearish traders flooded the market with selling orders in the forenoon period and forced down prices of the industrial market leaders to the lowest levels of the movement. United States Steel broke to below 148 and General Motors to 201¾, in heavy trading, in even blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares changed hands.

WEATHERMAN REPEATING LAST YEAR'S SCHEDULE

Weather nowadays and a year ago are corresponding surprisingly, according to Dr. E. H. Deffenbeger, local government weather observer.

Yesterday the high for the day was 83 degrees which is claimed a common temperature for this time of the year and last night the mercury dropped to depths around 56 degrees.

Aug. 24, 1925, the temperature tumbled from the high of 89 degrees for the day to 55 degrees as the lowest figure in the night.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Peaches were scarce in Marion produce markets today. The southern variety is mostly passing from local fruit stands while only a few of the Ohio crown peaches are to be found. The latter is expected to save the peach market a short time. Reports have already come from the lake regions of a good crop of the fruit.

Southern fruit was selling today at four pounds for 25 cents in most of the stores. On basket box the price of $2.15 was the lowest and $2.50 was the highest.

Tomatoes were popular and abundant. A few of the dealers were sacrificing their supplies at six pounds for 25 cents while the general quotation was five cents a pound. Only the home grown variety of tomato now is selling on the local markets.

Strawberries made a hasty exit owing to the great demand reducing their appearance Tuesday. They sold at 30 cents a quart. Another supply is expected to be announced on local fruit counters the latter part of the week.

Celery was plentiful and inexpensive. A good variety of homegrown celery was on hand today. The usual quotations were eight cents a bunch or two bunches for 15 cents.

In spite of the quarantine recently placed on sweet corn coming into the county, not much change has been noted on the sale or the supply from other years. A low price of 14 cents a dozen was found Tuesday. The common price was 16 cents.

AMICON FRUIT CONCERN NAMED IN $50,000 SUIT

Damage Action Is Filed In Columbus; Two Marion Men Seek Divorces

John Amicon Brother & Co., wholesale fruit concern of Columbus, having a branch store in this city, were yesterday named defendants in a damage suit of $50,000 filed in Franklin County Common Pleas Court by John F. Cianflone, executor of the estate of Nick Rolando.

Cianflone declares the driver of a truck for the fruit concern struck Rolando, April 27, on Cleveland-av, Columbus, inflicting injuries which resulted in his death.

Cianflone asserts that the driver was careless and negligent and is entirely responsible for the accident.

Asks Divorce

Declaring that his wife attacked him Sunday biting his hand and attempting to stick him with an ice pick, Paul D. Hoch, 343 Marion-av, today filed suit for a divorce from Helen M. Hoch.

Hoch asserts that he escaped from the attack when his wife ran the ice pick through the bedroom door. The coldeme still remains at the home, he said.

Hoch declares that his wife has an ungovernable temper and is guilty of extreme cruelty.

The couple were married July 31, 1923, in Lullington, Mich., and have one child now in the custody of the husband's mother, Mrs. Emma Hoch.

Hoch claims that if his wife is not restrained by a court order from disposing of the furniture in their home, she will sell the goods.

Seeks Separation

Asserting that his wife met him at the door every night with curses on her lips and at times struck him with a broom, Curtis Jones of Marion, today filed suit in Common Pleas Court for a divorce from Lulu Jones.

The couple were married July 5, 1919, and have five children.

For the last three years, Jones declares, his wife has refused to cook meals for him or the children and has left him on several occasions. He also accuses her of spending all his earnings without accounting for the expenditures.

He asks the custody of the five children.

CONTINUE TO QUIZ YOUTH IN DEATH OF GIRL

Denies Giving Her "Love Pills," but Admits Suggesting Medicines

Cleveland Aug 25—Questioning of Emil Balanesco youth medical student in connection with the mysterious death of Dorothy Kirk 23 year old stenographer in a hotel Sunday was resumed by detectives today while city chemists continued analysis of the girls vital organs

Balanesco is held on suspicion pending an official report of the coroner on the cause of the girls death But charges will be placed against him if the chemists analysis reveals that drugs the youth was said to have admitted giving Dorothy contributed to her death Detectives Bernard Wolfe and George Clark said today

Meanwhile Lubore Model attorney of Warren Ohio retained as counsel for Balanesco was expected to begin legal action this evening toward the youths release

Suggested Medicines

Balanesco according to the detectives admitted advising the girl about a month ago to take two pills when she was not feeling well

He said he was in love with her and therefore Wolfe said he decided that although right he could save her pills of some kind he suggested that she take certain proprietary medicines that might be procured at a drug store

Investigators in the case claimed they believed Balanesco who took a short and incomplete course in medicine has in his possession pill prescriptions complex

The detectives still Balanesco should be given the girl love pills as other gentlemen will be authorities to have been found in her purse after her death

Attorney Fred E. Guthery Brings Back Picturesque Story of Alaskan Country

Alaska's future lies in its fisheries, trapping, and lumber, in the opinion of Fred E. Guthery, attorney, returned from Alaska on the U S S Spokane with Mrs Guthery and their daughter Esther

Mr Guthery brought back a wonderful description of Alaska, its unexcelled mountain scenery and romantic history of the rush days of the Yukon

The Guthery party left Seattle on the Yukon river steamboat Spokane, to see the enormous glaciers and fiords so common in Alaska

The trip combined business and pleasure Mr Guthery having gone farther north than the remainder of the party to Dawson, the capital of Yukon territory

Population

The population is largely a mixture from the states Canada and Scotland, and England Mr Guthery said not different, as to people in the states They are especially courteous and hospitable to the tourists that visit them most of whom are from the states Their dress is similar except when on parade They have much the same sports and amusements namely picture shows dances and golf

At White Horse I witnessed a most unusual sight One day each year is set aside to be celebrated as Discovery Day and is known as the Days of '98 On this memorable day the events which form the true spirit of the Klondike days are staged Shows and gambling houses familiar sights of the olden days are opened up to

Mining on Decline

Mining seems to be on the decline in the Yukon territory towns having greatly decreased in population Ketchikan a town of about 7000 is the largest The houses are similar in appearance to our Western mining villages One of the most interesting things to be seen is the way in which the streets are paved They are made of planks laid on piling In the largest town there are no horses and but very few automobiles This is accounted for on the fact that there are but 18 miles of road in the surrounding country

Juneau the capital city has a population of 3000 One interesting city

Discovery Day is celebrated in the Yukon territory as a holiday

The weather was ideal while in Alaska and Yukon territory
